A MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL :

I would like to thank the staff and students of 1999 - 2000 for their contributions to the spirit and traditions that make Sarnia Collegiate such a great school. In each of the schools that I have worked, I am constantly amazed by the way such a large group of individuals manage to work together to create an invigorating environment and atmosphere for teaching and learning. I am particularly proud of S.C.I. & T.S.; its staff and its students.

Many outstanding achievements of our students in academics, in athletics, and in the arts, are depicted in this yearbook. Over the year other reflections on the successes of our students may be found in our commencement and awards programs, and in the local newspapers. Indeed it has been a successful year and this success is a tribute to the student body.

Every year the staff of the yearbook spend countless hours reproducing memories for each of us. Although the work is often times tedious, I am certain that they can reflect on their roles as distinguished school historians with pleasure and knowledge of a job well done.

Best of luck to all, particularly the graduates of 1999 - 2000.

K.J. Dawson

Principal: Mr. Dawson
Vice-Principal: Mr. Guilbeault

Grade Nines!

This year's Grade Nine class was made up of a bunch of guinea pigs. The new curriculum introduced by the Mike Harris government had teachers frantically trying to understand new concepts and get courses ready to teach.

Because of these changes, teachers got half a day a month to learn and understand the new requirements; this meant a half day off school for the students!

1999-2000 Retirees

Mrs. Pearce

Mrs. Pearce grew up in Sarnia and attended SCI&TS. Later, she went on to study at the University of Western Ontario in London. After completing her education, she returned to this area to teach science--including chemistry and biology--at Northern and SCI&TS.

In her career span of over 30 years, Mrs. Pearce has donated her time to the Revue and the curling team, and she has kept track of the athletic points for school letters.

In her retirement Mrs. Pearce plans on travelling with her husband and spending time with her grandson. She's also looking forward to doing "household activities" like quilting and crafts that she hasn't had time to do.

Her final thoughts for those remaining at SCI&TS is that everyone will be as lucky as she is and make as many good memories and experiences here as she did, both as a teacher and student.

Mrs. Vilcsak

Mrs. Vilcsak was born in East Cowes, Isle of Wight, off the south coast of England. When she was 11 years old, her family immigrated to Canada--to Guelph and then to Hamilton. Mrs. Vilcsak attended McMaster University where she earned her B.A., and then the University of Toronto, where she earned her M.A. and B. Ed. It was then that Mrs. Vilcsak began teaching German and English at SCI&TS. For the past 19 years she has been the teacher-librarian here, helping us out in the library.

During the past two decades, Mrs. Vilcsak has been very active in school activities such as the Library Club, and has sat on the Course Calendar committee. She has also edited the school newsletter and was a founding member of the Canned Food Players. Each year students look forward to the crazy antics that the group has in store for them. Mrs. Vilcsak has helped to direct skits for the Revue, and at one time was in charge of a girls' club called the SPADES (Service with a Purpose, Determination, and Education). She has not only been involved in school activities, but has held office with the OSSTF, both at the school and district level for about 25 years.

Eventually, she hopes to do some travelling with her husband, but he still has five years to work before retirement. A few of her retirement project plans are to find time to help digitize the SCITS' yearbooks and help out with Project Gutenberg, an organization that provides electronic texts on the internet free of charge.

Exchange

Name: Andreanne Lepage
Country: Quebec(Canada)
Birthday: May 28, 1983
Favourite Food: pumpkin pie and sloppy joes
Favourite Music: I like all kinds of music.
Exchange Partner: Jodi Shore
Time in Canada: August 29 to November 20

Departing Words:

For me, this trip was very good. I had a great time. I think that my favourite thing was school. The school was so fun. I think you are very lucky to have a school with many activities, like Spirit Day, Hat Day, and Pyjama Day. Those were very, very fun. I would like to say a special thanks to everybody who helped me with my English.

Name: Genevieve Laloux
Country: Belgium
Birthday: April 26, 1983
Favourite Food: Thanksgiving turkey sandwiches
Favourite Music: Red Hot Chilli
Peppers
Exchange Partner: Allison Millar

Departing Words:

It was a very great experience--the best in my whole life. I met so many great people who made my exchange so great. I saw a lot of new things, like lacrosse, hockey and football games. My only regret is that my exchange was too short. I didn't have the time to get to know enough people. I hope that I can come back some time because I will really miss Canada.

Name: Clara Salgado
Country: Spain
Birthday: April 29, 1983
Favourite Food: I love chocolate
Favorite Music: pop music
Exchange Partner: Laura Walker
Time in Canada: 3 months

Departing Words:

I love Canada, and I love Canadian people. I don't want to go home, and I love all kinds of Canadian cookies, muffins, chocolate bars, but I'm getting very fat. The difference between Spain and Canada is that I use a lot more ketchup here than in Spain. I'm going to miss Canada and my friends here.

Birthday: July 10, 1982
Favourite Food: Vegetarian food
Favourite Music: REM
Host Family: Bill and Julia Ansell
Time in Canada: 11 months

Departing Words:

I think that Canada is a wonderful country and I have had so much fun here. I have made lots of good friends and I am sad that I have to leave. I don't know what more to say other than I wish I could stay one more year!

Name: Blanca Gonzalez Ramos
Country: Spain
Birthday: January 1984
Favourite Food: Cocido
Favourite Music: pop
Exchange Partner: Amy Mills
Time in Canada: 3 months

Departing Words:

Canada is very different from Spain, but I like it very much. The people here are very nice.

Name: Ben Douglas
Country: New Zealand
Birthday: July 8, 1981
Favourite Food: pizza
Favourite Music: reggae, hip hop, alternative.
Exchange Partner: host family
Time in Canada: 11 months

Departing Words:

I have really enjoyed my stay in Canada. I have done so many different things--like dog sledding, snowboarding and ice skating--that I would never have the opportunity to do back home. Although I really miss New Zealand and all my friends and family, I have had the time of my life here in Canada. Later!

On Page 65

TOP: Jeremy Shuster receives the torch of knowledge from Valedictorian, Sean Rogers, on behalf of the Grade Nine class.

When Andrea Zuckerman was elected class valedictorian in that great episode of Beverly Hills 90210, it was required of her to make a speech at the commencement ceremony. Similarly, in the movie Say Anything, the female lead courageously delivered the valedictory address while no one except John Cusack laughed at her jokes.

In looking at these, really the only examples I have to draw from, and making the inevitable comparison between Hollywood and our own lives, we realize that, while Sarnia's hardly Beverly Hills, here we all are, graduating just like Brandon and Kelly and David and Donna, and here I am, making that historically-demanded speech, and here you are, feeling completely free not to laugh at any of my jokes. (As to whether John Cusack is an integral part of the speech-making equation is anyone's guess.)

But that's it. That's all I know about being valedictorian. After all, I have had no prior experience with this position, nor have I ever met someone who has.

So, yes, I'm wearing the requisite silly hat; yes, I've reluctantly put on what my mother calls my "big boy dress-up clothes"; yes, I'm standing in front of you now delivering a speech, but I don't know what the subject of this speech is supposed to be anymore than I really know what a valedictorian is supposed to be. Perhaps, then - in an attempt to shed a little light on the muddy meaning of "valuedictorian" (and, with a bit of luck, what is supposed to be the content of a valuedictorian's speech) - perhaps it is time to consult an authoritative source to clarify my vague definition. A dictionary, then: Merriam-Webster defines the noun "valuedictory" as "an address or statement of farewell or leave-taking," and "valuedictorian" as the student who delivers that address. Ah-ha.

Very helpful. The expected topic of my speech and the true meaning of "valuedictorian" laid bare for me in the same instant. There's only one problem: I'm not going to do it.

Oh, sure, I'll stand up here and deliver my address, but it won't be "an address of farewell or leave-taking", simply because I am both unprepared and unwilling to say farewell to or to take my leave of this school, and forgive me if I speak out of turn, but I doubt many other members of this graduating class are, either. We spent years of our lives here at S.C.I.&T.S.; our names are smeared in paint in the wings of this stage, our names are etched into the desks of every classroom, our names have echoed through these old halls - still echo through these halls, thanks to tonight's ceremony. S.C.I.&T.S. and we are inseparable; this school is a part of us, now, just as much as we made ourselves a part of it during our stay here. So, if I refuse to say "farewell" to good ol' S.C.I., if I choose not to let this ceremony of commencement become the conclusion of our relationship with this school, what do I do for the rest of the speech? End it right here and leave you alone? You should be so lucky. No, I still feel the need to say something to S.C.I.&T.S., even if it isn't my fond farewell. I still feel the need to give something back to the school that has given me so much; to let it be known just how much this building, this school, how much all the people in it have shaped my life and the life of everyone else who has ever stepped through those doors, and I honestly can't think of any better way to accomplish this task than to reminisce, however briefly; to recall and celebrate life at this school. And so reminisce I shall. Of course, as I've already acknowledged, I can't possibly speak for all my classmates here tonight, so it's necessary that I attempt to make the transition from the specific to the universal; to take my experiences at S.C.I. and translate them into something to which everyone can relate. For instance, everyone remembers our truly singular morning announcements, whether they were delivered by the multi-"talented" Mr. White, the fantasy football team of Nic and Bo, or the golden voice of Mr. Farina, as it is referred to by Mr. Guilbeault, yet another of our morning-announcements veterans. Yes, everyone remembers the morning announcements; however, I doubt many others share my appreciation of the announcement team of B.J. and Muff, whose announcements were so ably scripted by El Pres, and who would make me laugh so hard I'd have to put my head down on my desk and cry. Likewise, everyone can recall our annual Canned-Food Players, the event in which our teachers would happily get up here on stage and proceed to make fools of themselves - outside of their classrooms, Stand-Up Comedy at Noon from even farther back, and those dudes that came in and sang "Living on the edge, on the edge, on the edge, on the edge of the century..." There are many other such aspects of life here at S.C.I. that can be universally remembered, aspects both grand in scale and important, as was the capture of soccer titles by last year's senior teams, and minuscule and seemingly unimportant, as were the mad dash for the cafeteria on the days when pizza was served, or the shimmering wall of heat with which our ancient radiators greeted us on winter mornings, or the deadly amount of chlorine in the pool, or that phenomenon particular to S.C.I.&T.S. where, instead of falling down the stairs, one trips and falls up the stairs...

The list of universals can and does go on; but I also feel the need to pay at least a little attention to those times that are shared only among the privileged few. To what "privileged few" do I refer? Simple: those people in Mr. Davidson's Grade 9 Geography class who witnessed his bit of verbal incontinence while he was attempting to explain the meaning of the word "incontinence"; those people who were lucky enough to hear Mr. Strang play the role of the pig while reading an excerpt from —→

Lord of the Flies to his Grade 11 English class; those people who helped foster Ms. Hartley's "X-Files" addiction; those people who took part in Ms. Pollock's arguments over the correct pronunciation of "lieutenant," "harassment," and "leisure," or who were present for her lesson in proper etiquette. I'm talking about those people who know what it's like to be on the inside of an inside joke here at S.C.I. (and I'm sure Mr. Smithson knows what I'm referring to here.) I'm talking about those privileged few who know both how boring and how fun taking the bus home from school is - especially when you have tinted windows, and the school smoking section is right beside the bus stop.

Ah, but I'm getting farther and farther away from the universal and closer and closer to the particular, aren't I? So why don't I just become completely self-indulgent here for a few moments, recalling those precious moments that only mean something to me, and for this I must apologize and ask you to bear with me. What do I remember best, then? I remember when I was in Grade 9 wondering what that smell at the bottom of my locker was, only to discover a months-old piece of green cheese. I remember playing "Pirate's Parade" in Ms. Catton's Music class while exchanging bad tuba jokes with Andy Sheldon. I remember sleeping on my books before exams, hoping to absorb some of the material through osmosis, despite Mr. Robillard's protestations that osmosis only worked when there was water involved. I remember the Mole Club's Christmas luncheon. I remember the feeling I would get after I had finished playing whatever part I was playing in the Revue, standing in the wings and watching everyone else on stage. That's it, for me. That's my high school experience, right there. That's the moment that sends shivers up my spine every time I think about it. That's the moment.

Now, though, I realise it's time for me to once again step back into the wings, off the stage, and to watch others do their thing. Before I do, though, I'd like to have a moment alone with S.C.I.&T.S., just the valedictorian and his school, to say a few words. To that part of S.C.I.&T.S. that is the teachers: you truly are the greatest in the world. Keep doing what you're doing, and keep on loving it as much as you loved it when I was lucky enough to be here. To that part of S.C.I.&T.S. that is the students: guys, I hope I didn't screw up commencement for you too bad, and I hope I wasn't too too boring. You've been the best kind of people to go through school with: funny, active and enthusiastic. To the audience: if you've fallen asleep on me, don't be too worried about it - it's happened to me before. And to S.C.I.&T.S., just in general, and returning to that comparison to Hollywood that I started with: right now I feel like Dorothy in Oz, in that only once I've finally reached that wondrous land over the rainbow do I realize there's no place like home. Corny, but true. And I can't help but feel that S.C.I. & T.S. will always be my home, just like all of you will always be my family. Thanks for five wonderful years.

Peer Assisted Learning

Peer tutoring is a program to help Grade 9 and 10 students in their adjustment to high school, specifically in the areas of time management, study skills, and test preparation. It is expected that the tutor will volunteer one study period per week to the program. TEN points towards your School Letter can be earned through your involvement. If you are interested in being a part of this rewarding and valuable program next year, make sure you see Mr. Farina in the Learning Centre and sign up to be a PAL.
